Art and Science, A Perfect Match!

Join us as we investigate how to awaken the inner artist and scientist in your students. Through hands-on activities that promote scientific reasoning and critical thinking, together we will create artistic masterpieces. This workshop will give participants fun art-based ideas to use with preschool and kindergarten children.

- 1. Participants will be able to recognize the developmentally appropriate content of early childhood science exploration, particularly scientific reasoning.*
- 2. Participants will be exposed to how to teach and support science principles with hands-on art activities that promote science.*
- 3. Participants will participate in activities that support open-ended art activities that encourage creative and critical thinking.*
